SLABMAT

A smooth alternative to canvas: this non-woven material is used for pressing slabs without the textured weave impression created from canvas.

- The manufacturer recommends using a blunt steel fettling knife for cutting clay directly on the mat.
- Use cornstarch as a release powder if you find that your clay sticks. Use separate pieces for different colors of clay to avoid contamination.
- For slabs longer than 23" on a slab roller, use two full-length sheets with the clay sandwiched between them.
- To cut SlabMat, use an Exacto or utility knife.
- Store SlabMats flat or at most - loosely rolled
- You can use SlabMat on one side of the clay and canvas on the other for slabs with smooth and textured sides.
